Brightleaf Solutions Forms a Solutions Alliance with Symfact

Combined efforts to deliver more powerful, expanded, contract management systems

Brookline, MA – Brightleaf Solutions, Inc., a company that provides services to overcome the challenge of mining important information from structured or unstructured text-based documents and make it accessible to its customers, announced today that it is partnering with Symfact, a leading provider of enterprise contract management and compliance management solutions.

Effective deployment of contract management systems requires the upload of a company's legacy contracts, often a difficult undertaking when faced with tens of thousands, even hundreds of thousands of executed agreements.

Through this partnership, customers implementing the Symfact platform have the option to pre-load all their contracts, making them available for immediate use. This greatly enhances their users' efficiency and improves the platform ROI.

"Brightleaf has a well-deserved reputation for exceptionally high quality, and making that available to our customers allows us to really enhance their experience with our solutions" stated Dan Townsend Director of Sales at Symfact. "Having all the key terms from all their contracts available day one is part of our approach to ensure seamless integration of our platform."

According to Jeff Turner, VP Sales for Brightleaf Solutions, "Symfact is a major player in the contract management space with over 150 installations in all parts of the world. We're thrilled to be on the same team providing our combined solutions. All of us at Brightleaf enjoy working with them and look forward to expanding our relationship."
